

THEATRE 4 IDENTITY FOR NAVY CADETS

Almost 300 students saw two plays sponsored by Grandmothers of Plaza de Mayo (Abuelas de Plaza de Mayo) and then listened to the story of Pedro Sandoval, a restituted grandchild. Theatre 4 identity has already performed for the schools of the security forces, and has now taken its plays to the Armed Forces.

The plays featured on this occasion were El señor Martín (Mr. Martín) and Mi nombre es (My name is). The closing of the activity was conducted by Pedro Sandoval, a restituted grandchild, who shared his story with the audience. According to a press release, after the presentation, students engaged in debates based on the issues raised. One 21-year-old cadet came to Mr. Sandoval to learn more about his story and the struggle of the Grandmothers of Plaza de Mayo.
